

Ozone Day Celebration

XII science students at our school celebrated the International Day for the Preservation of the Ozone Layer with a compelling presentation during the morning assembly. They prepared a captivating PowerPoint presentation, shedding light on the significance of ozone layer protection, its depletion causes, and the importance of the Montreal Protocol. The students explained how human activities contribute to ozone depletion and its harmful consequences, emphasizing the need for global cooperation. Their informative and visually engaging presentation educated the entire school community on this crucial environmental issue, inspiring all of us to take action in preserving the ozone layer for a sustainable future.
